charges of federal tax evasion. Chamberlin, 48, was a major donor to Hillary Clinton’s presidential campaigns, and he made campaign contributions in 2016 to Donald Trump’s campaign. White House Press Secretary Sarah Huckabee Sanders confirmed Monday that Trump will not be immediately meeting with Cohen during the ongoing talks about a possible pardon. The meeting was discussed after the FBI raided Cohen’s home, office, and hotel room last week. Cohen, who is facing more than $3 million in legal fees, could also be setting up a possible pardon for himself in the event he is prosecuted. In a statement on Monday, Cohen said he intends to follow the advice of his lawyers. “I will not be a witness against myself,” Cohen said. “I am a father, a husband, a businessperson, and a citizen. I have been treated more unfairly than anyone could imagine and unfair is not the standard that defines me.” He then added: “I will not be a witness against myself.” He also requested that they not call him Mr. Cohen
