for more than 40 years, toeic has set the standard for assessing english-language communication skills needed in the workplace. now, toeic is used by over 14 000 corporate, government institutions and english language programs in more than 160 countries. after spending the morning building a language learning website for the community, i've come back to the toefl forum to answer any questions you might have about the toefl test or the associated online toeic program. the test is comprised of 25 multiple choice tests that require a minimum of four minutes to complete. this is one of my favourite websites that i have come across that offers an online test for toeic, toefl and ielts. whether you want to practise a few exercises, have a look at the total score, the overall trends and progress, or find out about the top scores for specific countries, you'll find all of this and much more here. this site has a whole section devoted to toeic. here you can find the official toeic programme, as well as information about the test and the lessons themselves. there are also some interactive sections where you can practice vocabulary, listen to audio, and even find the top scorers for specific countries.

the institute of international education (iie) is an independent, private, non-governmental, not-for-profit organization that promotes international education and cultural understanding. it was founded in 1919 and was one of the first institutions to provide support to overseas students. the institute is a neutral forum for discussion of educational and cultural matters, and a center of expertise in the areas of undergraduate study, graduate study, international education, and foreign scholarships. ita is a leader in international education. from traditional programs of study to specialized training, from academic pursuits to professional development, ita offers world-class programs for those who seek to enhance their skills and knowledge in a multicultural learning environment. ita has about 130 undergraduate programs in more than 40 countries and over 150 graduate programs in the united states and more than 40 countries. in addition, ita provides more than 200 professional development programs worldwide. through the institute's many programs, ita brings an unrivalled diversity of knowledge, experience, and professional skill to the undergraduate and graduate students. ita also enhances the cultural understanding and sense of responsibility of its global alumni community. the institute of international education is a leading advocate for the improvement of international education and cultural understanding. in particular, ita promotes an understanding of the perspectives of people from different cultures, and acts as a catalyst for improving the quality of education and the opportunities for study abroad. the institute engages in public diplomacy by promoting the study abroad experience, the exchange of information, and the exchange of ideas. information about the iie and its programs is available at www.iie.org. for more information on the institute of international education, please
